Public procurement;

Financial instruments; and Subdelegation to other DGs for actions of common benefit.

The Annex to the draft Implementing Decision sets out, for each budget line concerned, the details of the various actions scheduled by DG EMPL for 2018.

PART I - General Overview

1. Overall socio-economic context for the 2018 EaSI work programme

A number of trends determine the socio-economic context of the 2018 work programme for EaSI.

- Employment on the rise, pushing back poverty

The Employment and Social Developments in Europe Annual Review 2017\(^1\) highlighted that in 2016 employment in the EU surpassed its pre-crisis rate and level. Around 215 million people between 20 and 64 years were in employment in 2016, a historical high. The number of Europeans at work was the highest ever measured, reaching more than 232 million in 2016. Last year, three million jobs were created, most of them permanent. In 2016, unemployment continued to fall in the EU, yet remained above pre-crisis levels. The number of unemployed people (between 15 and 74 years) reached 20.9 million, compared to more than 26 million in 2013. The drop in unemployment in 2016 was the biggest since the beginning of the recovery. Yet, 7.8% of the Europeans are still unemployed (as recorded in April 2017).

Full-time employment effectively protects people against poverty and social exclusion in most cases. The share of the EU population at risk of poverty or social exclusion (23.7 %) is the lowest in five years but still too high and too far from the goal set in the Europe 2020 Strategy. In spite of recent progress, a lot remains to be done to tackle the negative impact of the crisis on employment, on poverty and income inequality and on cohesion among Member States. In the post-crisis years (2008-2013) it has been difficult to return to employment: only about one in eight unemployed people managed to find permanent full-time employment within three years. The youth unemployment rate was 16.7% in April 2017, which remains a major concern as are long-term unemployment and unemployment of the elderly and immigrants.

- Changing world of work

Working life is being radically transformed by the combined effect of technological progress, globalisation and the growth of the services sector. These transformations are also coupled with increasing digitalisation of the economy, notably through the emergence of digital platforms and the collaborative economy which will offer new work opportunities, currently mostly in the form of self-employment. New forms of work and operating models may challenge the traditional work structures, industrial relations, employment and working conditions and the current social protection arrangements. Yet, while ICT jobs have grown by 2 million since 2006, many more ICT vacancies remain unfilled. Investment in skills is crucial to reap the full benefits of digitalisation leading to higher growth and also ensuring the long-term sustainability of social protection systems. The changes due to digitalization and the new work opportunities can have an influence on labour legislation, social security and pension schemes and their delivery methods.

\(^1\) http://ec.europa.eu/social/main.jsp?catId=738&langId=en&pubId=8030&furtherPubs=yes
• Convergence and divergence in the EU

Europe has always meant convergence towards higher living standards. It is through convergence that the EU becomes more cohesive and more stable. There are encouraging signs of renewed convergence, after significantly increased disparities following the deep recession of 2009. Yet major differences remain and labour markets and social protection policies and institutions across the EU performed very differently in the face of economic shocks. In this context, abusive practices in flexible forms of employment together with the disparities they create should be examined with the objective of exchanging best practices in preventing abuses and in introducing measures to mitigate any adverse effects on social rights.

• Integration of refugees and migrants in societies and labour markets

In 2015 and 2016, almost 2.6 million asylum applications were submitted to Member States. Migrants and refugees in general face obstacles when integrating into local labour markets, due to various factors such as lower levels of education and/or insufficient language skills. Upskilling and, particularly, improving language skills can significantly help migrants and refugees and their families integrate on the labour market in the host country. Special attention should continue to be paid to women and young people as well as partnerships between the public and private sectors and civil society in the integration process. The removal of integration obstacles through early labour market access, improved recognition of qualifications and combatting discrimination are keys to unlock their potential and thus will contribute to boost the EU's human capital against the background of ageing societies. Under the 2016 work programme the EaSI financed an important call for proposals aiming at stimulating labour market integration of asylum seekers, refugees and their family members.

2. Overall political and policy priorities

As the 2017 Annual Grow Survey highlighted, there is a need to achieve an economic recovery which benefits all, strengthens fairness and the social dimension of the single market. This message was further strengthened in the Rome declaration of 27 March 2017 of the Heads of State and Government of the EU calling for a stronger social Europe "based on sustainable growth, promotes economic and social progress as well as cohesion and convergence".

These political orientations are at the core of the EaSI political objectives. The programme is therefore central for achieving the political goals of the EU in the employment and social policies and for further deepening of the internal market. Furthermore, as of 2018 the programme will accompany the implementation of the proposal for a European Pillar of Social Rights ("the Pillar") and the associated legislative and non-legislative initiatives related to work-life balance, providing information to workers, access to social protection and working time. The Pillar is part of the efforts to launch a new process of convergence. While it is notably conceived for the euro area, it is addressed to all Member States wishing to be part of it. The Pillar is an illustration of the conviction that convergence towards better social-economic outcomes, social resilience and fairness is the necessary foundation for a more integrated and stable EU.

On the basis of these overall political objectives, the 2018 work programme will support a number of policy priorities:
✓ Investing in supportive conditions for greater labour market participation, more quality jobs and effective training and upskilling;
✓ Modernizing social protection systems;
✓ Improving the reconciliation of work and private life;
✓ Developing adequate responses for dealing with influx of migrants including refugees beyond the immediate short-term needs;
✓ Continuing to fight youth unemployment and long term unemployment;
✓ Redesigning social protection systems to ensure that they contribute effectively and efficiently throughout the life-cycle to social inclusion, labour market integration and social cohesion;
✓ Fostering tax and benefits schemes that provide adequate support and work incentives;
✓ Better reflecting growing life expectancy in national pension systems

PROGRESS
The overall funding of the Progress axis in 2018 will increase from the 2017 level by EUR14.3M.

3.1 In the area of social protection and inclusion, the programme will support a number of overarching themes including the implementation of the European Pillar of Social Rights, the promotion of work-life balance, job creation, the reduction of poverty and social exclusion.

The following actions are highlighted:

2 The resources are subject to the availability of the appropriations provided for in the draft general budget of the Union for 2018, following the adoption of that budget by the budgetary authority or as provided for in the system of provisional twelfths.
a. Innovative solutions to promote a better work-life balance and access to social protection including development of tools to model reforms of national policies will be addressed in a multi-strand call for proposals with special attention to candidate and potential candidate countries;

b. A set of selected actions will continue extending support to: the mutual learning activities within the social policy open method of coordination, MISSOC, the European Social Policy Network, the High level group on pensions, conferences and workshops on inequalities in Europe, modelling of access to social protection and to the EU level Social NGO Networks;

c. The programme will deepen the cooperation with the Council of Europe and the International Organisation for Migration (IOM) through specific grants for actions to improve Roma inclusion (the Council of Europe Romact) and integration of refugees (IOM) as well as with the OECD;

d. Support will continue to underpin evidence-based policy making through activities linked to data collection and data analysis such as support for EUROMOD, the European system of integrated social protection statistics (ESSPROS) and the Labour Force Survey;

e. The political dialogue with international partners on employment and social policy will be supported ahead of international meetings requiring EU coordination;

f. The electronic information exchange system in the social security field (EESSI) will continue to be supported by the programme to promote labour mobility across the EU

3.2 In the areas of employment and working conditions the following key actions are highlighted as recipients of support:

a. A call for proposals in the field of posting of workers;

b. A new call for proposals will be developed to incentivise the deployment of skills assessment in the context of the implementation of the upskilling pathways;

c. The implementation of the youth guarantee and the long term unemployment recommendation (supporting networks, events, studies and data collection) together with a series of meetings and events bringing together the PES, groups of experts in labour law, the EU platform on undeclared work and meetings on posting of workers;

d. The consolidation of the mutual learning activities in employment policy including on the upskilling pathways will continue with Member States and with other stakeholders and within the European centre of expertise in the field of labour law, employment and labour market policies;

e. The work of OECD on new forms of work and the underlying challenges;

f. In 2018 the funding devoted to health and safety will increase with the view to support the development of European statistics on occupational accidents and diseases and the mutual learning among Member States. The traditional grants to the International Commission on non-ionizing radiation protection, the International agency for research on cancer and WHO will be continued;

g. In 2018, the programme will lend its support to the multi-donor fund Vision Zero Fund of the ILO on occupational health and safety in global supply chains.

3.3 Support to the microfinance providers
The Progress axis traditionally supports activities for the networks of microfinance providers that cannot be financed under the third axis but are essential for its overall effectiveness. This will be supported with a call for proposals ‘transaction costs to support social financial intermediaries’ and capacity building designed for social enterprises finance providers.

EURES

In 2018, the projected funding for the Eures axis will be EUR € 24.3M and it will support the following key actions coherent with the EURES Regulation 2016/589:

| | |

</table>

Following the call for proposals in 2017, EURES organisations will continue to support the occupational strand of the European Solidarity Corps throughout 2018.

MICROFINANCE AND SOCIAL ENTREPRENEURSHIP

In 2018, the funding available for the financial instruments under the third axis will decrease to EUR 27.5M while it reached EUR 43.5M in 2017. The split between the microfinance part and the social enterprises part is EUR 12M for the former and EUR 15.5M for the latter, among which EUR 24M are for Financial Instruments.

In addition, in view of the high uptake of the EaSI guarantee financial instrument and the strong demand which resulted in full utilisation of the EaSI budget under its microfinance window, the Commission intends to top-up the budget of the Guarantee Facility by EUR 100 million with funds from the European Fund for Strategic Investment (EFSI). This will enable an increase in financing available to vulnerable groups, microenterprises and social enterprises and thus further address the identified financing gap.

1.2.2 Direct grant to OECD: Project for a multi-country database on benefit recipients

Priorities of the year, objectives pursued and expected results

Analytical activities to support employment and social policy initiatives. The EU (Eurostat) collects detailed and harmonised information on social protection expenditure and financing (ESSPROS), but this does not include information on beneficiaries (except in the area of pensions). Such data are essential to evaluate the effectiveness of the spending. The OECD has established and refined the data methodology to support the EU in this task. Priorities of the year, objectives pursued and expected results

The grant builds on existing EC - OECD cooperation on the calculation of tax wedges and effective tax rates on labour with a view to providing an uninterrupted time series of indicators fully consistent with existing measures. This EC-OECD cooperation yields vital results for DG EMPL’s work, in particular as the indicators are essential variables that are monitored in the European Semester and are also part of Country-Specific Recommendations. The information is also used in the Quarterly Review on the Employment and Social Situation in the EU and the Annual Review on Employment and Social Developments in Europe.

Description of the activities to be funded

The OECD will maintain and provide annual updates of the set of standard indicators on tax burdens and work incentives, provide backward/forward looking assessments of past/future policy reforms, and analytical work. The activities foreseen include e.g. the provision of core indicators, modelling policy changes, the production of analytical reports, knowledge transfer, training and capacity building.

Essential eligibility, selection and award criteria

1.2.4 Sub - delegation to EUROSTAT – Direct grant to National Statistical Institutes (NSI) and other designated National Authorities for the Labour Force Survey 2019 ad-hoc module on work organisation and working time arrangements

Priorities of the year, objectives pursued and expected results

European statistics are needed for the programming and implementation of EU policies in the area of employment, skills, social affairs and labour mobility. The priorities in 2018 will include the continued cooperation with EUROSTAT based on an MoU to further develop the analytical capacity of the DG’s priorities for quality statistics allowing monitoring of developments and trends in the EU in the following areas: employment and labour markets, poverty and social exclusion, health and disability, efficiency and effectiveness of the welfare state, skills and training. In this context, timeliness of the data, as well as availability of data on dynamic aspects of labour markets and poverty is of particular importance. The data collected provide input to the European Semester and the work of EMCO and SPC, and the collection of labour market policy statistics and expansion of the data collection cover new arising needs.

Description of the activities to be funded

The Labour Force Survey (LFS) is an important source of information on the situation and trends in the EU labour market. The LFS ad hoc modules aim to provide users with statistics on a specific topic concerning the labour market by adding each year a set of variables to supplement the core EU-LFS. National questionnaires are used to collect the EU-LFS data. The LFS survey is directed to households, designed to obtain information on the labour market and related issues through a series of personal interviews. The LFS 2019 ad-hoc module will feed into the purpose of monitoring progress towards the common objectives set out in the Europe 2020 strategy. The Commission should receive from the Member States a comprehensive set of data on work organisation and working time arrangements that allows comparisons to be made between Member States.

Essential eligibility, selection and award criteria

Eligibility criteria:

To be eligible, applicants must:

- be National Statistical Institutes (NSI) and other National Authorities as designated by the Member States members and being members of the European Statistical System.
be properly constituted and registered in one of the EU Member States or EFTA countries.

According to Article 190.1.(f) of the Rules of Application, grants may be awarded without a call for proposals for actions with specific characteristics that require a particular type of body on account of its technical competence, its high degree of specialisation or its administrative power, on condition that the actions concerned do not fall within the scope of a call for proposals.

The individual award decisions substantiating the specific characteristics of the action and the particular technical competence, high degree of specialisation or administrative power of the beneficiaries will be adopted at a later stage by EUROSTAT.

The aim is to produce better data for the monitoring of social protection policies in the Member States, as well as the effectiveness and efficiency of social protection systems. Such information is particularly relevant for the European Semester.

Grants will be awarded to Member States, candidate countries and EFTA countries to help them improve the quality of ESSPROS statistics (delivery of ESSPROS data, including early estimates, to the agreed voluntary deadlines and links with National Accounts).

1.2.18 Call for proposals to support the deployment of skills assessments in the implementation of "Upskilling Pathways"

Priorities of the year, objectives pursued and expected results

The overall objective is to support the upskilling of adults with low basic skills via the implementation of the “Upskilling Pathways” Recommendation (December 2016), as part of the New Skills Agenda for Europe, launched by the Commission on 10 June 2016. This should be done in particular by putting in place the first of the three key steps of the “Upskilling pathways initiative”: skills assessments.
The call for proposals aims at supporting the deployment of individual skills assessments for low-skilled adults in the context of the implementation of Upskilling Pathways. The skills assessments will identify the individual’s existing skills and any upskilling needs, and inform the design of a learning offer adapted to the results of this assessment. Screening tools for detecting ‘gaps’ in individuals’ literacy, numeracy or digital skills are an important component.

Skills assessments should be embedded in programmes or interventions targeting low-skilled adults, to facilitate their orientation towards a suitable offer of learning, and to make visible the skills they have acquired throughout their lives, through formal, non-formal or informal learning.

More generally, the aim is to mobilise and engage stakeholders in the delivery of Upskilling Pathways and therefore to increase the take up of upskilling opportunities by low-skilled adults.

This action will complement the support targeted on low-skilled adults through the European Social Fund and Erasmus+, by assisting participating countries to develop coherent strategies for increasing the skills levels and qualifications for adults without an upper secondary education. This action should concentrate on a given Member State as it is aimed to be a support to the implementation of “Upskilling Pathways” and complement related activities (ongoing or future) taking place at national, regional or local levels.

Description of the activities to be funded

Supporting the deployment of individual skills assessments, embedded in upskilling pathways targeting low-skilled adults through:

- developing skills assessments tools or procedures;
- piloting and/or testing skills assessments tools or procedures;
- adapting existing provision to the needs of low-skilled adults;
- encouraging employers to provide skills assessments for employees in low-skilled jobs;
- creating and improving mechanisms for coordination and cooperation among stakeholders involved in the provision or design of skills assessments (adult education and training providers, labour market stakeholders and social policy stakeholders, etc.).

In the case of an action to be implemented by a transnational consortia, the application must make clear which country will be the focus of the project.

1.2.27 Call for proposals: Transaction costs to support social finance intermediaries

Priorities of the year, objectives pursued and expected results

- The underlying objective is to further support the development of the social investment market and facilitate access to finance for social enterprises through grants to intermediaries in the social enterprise finance field to partially cover the transaction costs, complementing financial instruments, e.g. under the European Fund for Strategic Investments (EFSI) SME Window equity product.

- The envisaged activities are based on the fact that the most important funding gap for social enterprises is below EUR 500,000. However, the transaction costs for such small tickets can be high which gives an incentive to social impact fund managers to focus on higher amounts in order to preserve the fund's sustainability. This can lead to a mismatch between needed and sustainable ticket sizes.

- This activity allows for a combination of grants with financial instruments to address a market failure by catalysing smaller risk-capital investments, of below EUR 500,000 in particular, in social enterprises that would otherwise not happen.

Description of the activities to be funded

The grant is aimed to support financial intermediaries that undertake long term risk capital investments in ticket sizes of less than EUR 500,000 in the form of equity, preferred equity, hybrid instruments, other type of mezzanine financing to social enterprises in the EaSI Participating Countries. It will serve to lower the transaction costs, such as travel cost, lawyers’ fees, costs for carrying out the due diligence and business development support e.g. to coach enterprises if they still need help with business plan support, etc. for these small investment tickets and thus help overcome a market failure in the social investment market.

Essential eligibility, selection and award criteria

Eligibility criteria:

To be eligible, the applicant (lead and co-applicants in case of a consortium) must be:

- be a legal entity properly constituted and registered in a one of the EaSI Participating Countries.

- be an investment fund, a Fund-of-Funds, a special purpose vehicle, in any form, established or to be established or a (co-) investment scheme in any form (including managed accounts and other types of contractual arrangements) established or to be established.

Selection criteria:

Only organisations with the necessary financial and operational capacity may be awarded a grant.

Award criteria:

The beneficiary will be invited to submit an application which will be evaluated according to the following main criteria:

- A. Relevance for the objectives of the call and added value;
- B. Quality of the activities and expected outcomes;
- C. Development potential and sustainability;
- D. Cost-effectiveness.

1.7.1 Subdelegation to EUROSTAT – Development of European Statistics on Occupational Diseases (2018_04.030201_110)

Description and objective of the implementing measure

Regulation (EC) 1338/2008 specifies in art. 2: "Member States shall supply to the Commission (Eurostat) statistics on the following domains: (...) occupational diseases and other work-related health problems and illnesses, as defined in Annex V". Annex V has so far not been put into force mainly because of the poor quality of the underlying data on occupational diseases. The difficulties encountered indicate that EODS data collection would require first a convergence of concepts and a simplification of the data collection to cover all MSs to allow for a better comparability of data in line with the action foreseen in the EU OSH Strategic FW 2014-2020. The amount sub-delegated in 2018 will both serve the methodological work on the simplified EODS data collection (establishing a short list of diseases recognised in all MS and simplified list of causal agents) as well as certain ESAW developments (work on under-reporting and under-coverage), in line with the EU OSH Strategic FW 2014-2020.

Therefore, DG EMPL has put in place a cross-cutting "AMI-type" list like other DGs in order to be able to assist its Calls’evaluation committees with assessors with highly technical expertise.

A call for expression of interest has been published, in view to open to registration to natural persons as potential remunerated external experts, for assisting the DG EMPL in the evaluation of grants. In the frame of this procedure, the registration to specific lists of experts, will be open for a maximum duration of 5 years. All relevant description of lists and skills, participating conditions and fixed remunerations has been announced in the call for interest.

On the basis of the specific lists of experts, DG EMPL may select remunerated external experts following Art. 287 RAP for assisting the evaluation of complex and highly technical projects.

1.7.3 Sub - delegation to JRC - Support to EUROMOD Regular maintenance of the EUROMOD tax-benefit microsimulation model and preparation of its transfer to the European Commission. Use of EUROMOD micro-simulation. (2018_04.030201_44 - 2018_04.030201_136)

Overall objective and purpose of the action
The action contributes to a gradual transition of EUROMOD from its current host organisation, the University of Essex, to the Commission. EUROMOD is a microsimulation tool that has become increasingly important for various Commission services to assess the impact of tax-benefit reforms and, in the future, for obtaining more timely data on income distribution and poverty thanks to flash estimates to be produced by Eurostat.

The action is planned to allow JRC to continue to work on a number of countries in close cooperation with the University of Essex, thereby ensuring the continuity of EUROMOD.
